COMPLAINTS AND DECISIONS.

CITY OF CHARLOTTE v. SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY—IN RE ASSESSMENT OF PROPERTY.

TRAVIS, Commissioner. This matter coming on to be heard, upon the petition herein, and the amendments thereto, alleging that certain real estate therein set out was grossly undervalued for taxation, and that certain other real estate therein set out is not assessed for taxation at all, and it appearing that said matters were not called to the attention of the board of equalization of said county when in session: it is, therefore,

Ordered, That the said board of equalization of Mecklenburg County, composed of the county assessor and the board of county commissioners, be and they are hereby directed to reconvene in the city of Charlotte on the 23d day of September, 1912, to investigate the matters complained of in said petition; and they are directed to ascertain if the property therein described as already listed for taxation, or any part thereof, is grossly undervalued, and if so, to reassess the same, so as to equalize it with the general assessment of all other property in said county, in the manner provided by statute, and to place on the tax list and properly assess all such property mentioned in said petition as may be found not listed and assessed, and which is liable to local assessment by law. The said board of equalization shall continue in session, or adjourn from time to time, as they find most convenient, until the said matters are concluded, and will give notice of the time and place of their meeting to the petitioners and defendants or their representatives.

September 5, 1912.

CITY OF CHARLOTTE v. SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY, ATLANTA AND CHARLOTTE AIR LINE RAILWAY, AND NORTH CAROLINA RAILROAD COMPANY.

This cause coming on for further directions upon the coming in of the report of the county board of equalization of Mecklenburg County, and it appearing from said report "that the property of the Southern Railway Company which is liable for local taxation under the provisions of the statute has not been undervalued, comparing the valuation placed upon it with other valuations of like property in the county":

It is ordered, That this proceeding be dismissed.

December 18, 1912.

Chairman.

CORPORATION COMMISSION v. BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF
WASHINGTON COUNTY.

TRAVIS, Chairman. It appearing to the Commission that in 1912 the board of commissioners of Washington County reduced the assessed value of real estate in that county without authority of law and contrary to the directions of this Commission: it is now

Ordered, That the said board of commissioners show cause, if any they have, before the State Tax Commission on the 11th day of August, 1913, at its office in Raleigh, North Carolina, why the said Commission should not issue a mandatory order directing them to restore the valuation of real estate in that county to what it was before the said reduction was made, in order that the computation of taxes for the current year should be made upon the proper and lawful valuation.

July 29, 1913.

CORPORATION COMMISSION v. BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF
WASHINGTON COUNTY.

TRAVIS, Chairman. This matter was heard upon notice to the board of commissioners of Washington County to show cause before the State Tax Commission why a mandatory order should not be issued directing the defendants to restore the valuation of real estate in Washington County to the assessment and equalization as made by the assessors and board of equalization of that county in 1911.

The defendants appeared in Raleigh on the 11th day of August, 1913, and introduced such testimony as they desired.

It appears that the assessment of 1911 was duly made according to law, and an equalization thereof was lawfully made by the board of equalization of that county for said year, and that the taxes for 1911 were made out and collected upon that assessment. That for the year 1912 the board of commissioners of Washington County took up the question of reducing the assessment of 1911, and that instead of undertaking to make the reduction itself, it directed the register of deeds to do so, instructing him to make reductions not exceeding 20 per cent. It further appears that the register of deeds, in making reductions, did not proceed on any plan of making uniform reductions to all taxpayers, nor to any class of taxpayers, but that he deducted arbitrary amounts from the assessment of particular taxpayers, the aggregate of these individual reductions amounting to about 20 per cent. There was no general reduction upon a percentage basis either in the county or in any of the townships of the county, so far as we have been able to learn, and no attempt to make the reductions uniform as to all taxpayers.

On the contrary, it appears that considerable reductions were made in the assessment of large property owners, and no reduction at all in the assessment of small property owners.

If the State Tax Commission could approve a reduction at all, it could not approve one made in such an irregular and unlawful manner.

The Commission is of opinion that the assessment of 1911, having been duly and lawfully made and equalized by the board of equalization of Washington County, became under the statute, section 19, Machinery Act, 1911, the fixed assessment for the ensuing four years, and that the county commissioners were entirely without authority or power to alter the same, and certainly could not lawfully delegate such power, if they had it, to the register of deeds, to be exercised by him without uniformity or rule in such manner as he might see fit. It is to be presumed, nothing to the contrary having been shown, that when the board of equalization of Washington County in 1911 equalized the assessment in that county as between the various property owners therein, that this equalization was fairly and justly made. It would therefore follow that no reduction or change in the assessment would be justified unless made upon a uniform basis.

There was some testimony offered tending to show that a large portion of Washington County is in swamp lands of very low value per acre, and that if this were deducted from the total acreage of the county, it would appear that the remaining lands were assessed at an average value higher than that in the counties surrounding it. And it appears from the testimony offered that the land in Washington County was assessed in 1911 at nearer its true value in money than the lands in adjoining counties. This fact inclines the State Tax Commission to view the matter with leniency, but we can see no lawful way to permit the reduction made by the county commissioners in 1912. It does not appear, and no one has contended, that the assessment in 1911 was in excess of, or even equal to, the true value in money.

The State Tax Commission in the matter of assessment of the Seaboard Air Line Railway and other railroads, in its report for 1911, at page 12, laid down the rule "that they could not be justified in reducing property assessed according to the lawful standard to a lower basis because other property was assessed too low, but that it would rather be our duty to raise the property assessed below the legal standard."

We think this rule, which we applied to the railroads, is correct and just, and must be applied to all others as well. It is, therefore,

Ordered, That the board of commissioners of Washington County be and they are hereby ordered and directed to restore the assessment of real property in Washington County to the valuation at which it was fixed by the board of equalization of that county in 1911, and that the taxes of that county be computed and collected upon that basis.

CORPORATION COMMISSION v. SOUTHERN EXPRESS COMPANY—ASSESSMENT OF UNPAID FRANCHISE TAX FOR 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912.

TRAVIS, Chairman. This is an investigation of franchise or license tax due by the Southern Express Company under Schedule C for the years 1909, 1910, 1911, and 1912, made by the State Tax Commission pursuant to chapter 174 of the Public Laws of 1913.

It appears that for the years named there was imposed upon express companies, "upon its gross revenue derived from business done wholly within this State," an annual tax of $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent for 1909 and 1910, and 3 per cent for 1911 and 1912. The gross revenue of the Southern Express Company for those years, according to its own reports made to this Commission, were as follows:

1909.	1910.	1911.	1912.
$313,052.73	$348,865.57	$385,900.27	$432,810.01

But that in making its report of such gross revenue, the express company during those years first deducted the amounts which it paid to the railroad companies for transportation, as follows:

1909.	1910.	1911.	1912.
$148,650.04	$168,520.27	$183,657.11	$219,512.49

And by this method arrived at the amounts which it reported as its "gross revenues" for the said years, and upon which its franchise tax was accordingly computed and paid, of the following amounts:

1909.	1910.	1911.	1912.
$164,402.50	$180,345.24	$220,243.16	$213,297.51

The defendant express company contends that these latter amounts are its gross revenues for the years named, and its reports to the State Treasurer for those years did not show the deductions above stated.

The State Tax Commission is of opinion that the gross revenue of the express company is the total amounts received by it before making deductions for what it pays to the railroad companies for transportation, and that the deductions made by it are not proper nor lawful. If the express company has the right to deduct its entire transportation expenses, and to treat the remainder as gross revenue, why could it not deduct other expenses of operating its business; and at what point would it cease to deduct expenses before getting down to what its gross revenue would be? It is very apparent that it comes nearer reporting its net revenue than its gross revenue. If some railroad companies arrived at their gross revenue by deducting expenses of transportation, they would show no gross revenue whatever. The Commission is of opinion that the position of the express company is utterly untenable. It, therefore, finds:

That the Southern Express Company owes to the State the tax on its gross revenues for said years as first stated herein, subject to deduction of amounts actually paid. The balance found to be due by the State Tax Commission for said years from the Southern Express Company are as follows:

1909.	1910.	1911.	1912.
$3,716.25	$4,213.00	$5,509.71	$6,575.36

aggregating $20,014.32.

This order will be certified to the State Treasurer, to the end that he may proceed to collect the said tax according to law.
